“When you tell someone that you’re going to a new ERP system, they all give you that ‘pained look.’ To think that we’re on a year from when we did discovery to now three months into our live implementation, and all we’re working on is some fine-tuning. Some of these fine-tuning tasks are those little things that make our life so much easier, but this wasn’t what I expected when we went live because people told me so many horror stories.

I’m thankful for the effort on both Softengine and Baronet teams.”

~Bruce Goldsmith, Family Owner, Baronet Coffee.
